This Non-Disclosure Agreement (the "Agreement") is entered into as of this date by and between Oscorp Inc., a Delaware corporation ("Disclosing Party"), and Aperture Corp., a Delaware corporation ("Receiving Party").

Section 1. Definition of Confidential Information

Confidential Information means all non-public, proprietary information disclosed by the Disclosing Party to the Receiving Party, including but not limited to technical data, business plans, financial information, product specifications, source code, trade secrets, customer lists, and strategic initiatives. Confidential Information excludes information that is publicly available, independently developed, rightfully received from third parties, or required to be disclosed by law.

The Receiving Party shall implement appropriate physical, electronic, and procedural safeguards to prevent unauthorized access, use, or disclosure of Confidential Information.

This fee represents compensation for the time, resources, and expertise required to prepare and disclose the Confidential Information and shall be non-refundable except as provided by applicable law.

Section 6. Intellectual Property

All Confidential Information remains the sole and exclusive property of the Disclosing Party. The disclosure of Confidential Information does not grant any license, rights, or interest to the Receiving Party in any intellectual property or trade secrets. The Receiving Party shall not reverse engineer, disassemble, or attempt to derive the underlying principles of any technical Confidential Information without express written permission.

Section 7. Return of Information

Upon termination of this Agreement or upon request by the Disclosing Party, the Receiving Party shall promptly return or destroy all Confidential Information, including copies, and certify such return or destruction in writing. The Receiving
