NON-DISCLOSURE AGREEMENT

This Non-Disclosure Agreement ("Agreement") is entered into as of the date of the last signature below ("Effective Date") by and between Prestige Inc., a corporation organized and existing under the laws of Delaware ("Disclosing Party"), and Oscorp Corp., a corporation organized and existing under the laws of New York ("Receiving Party").

Section 1. Definitions

For purposes of this Agreement, "Confidential Information" means any and all non-public technical data, trade secrets, business information, financial data, customer lists, marketing strategies, product specifications, software code, research and development materials, or any other proprietary information disclosed by Disclosing Party to Receiving Party in written, electronic, oral, or visual form, whether or not marked as confidential. Confidential Information shall not include information that is publicly available through no breach of this Agreement, rightfully received by Receiving Party from a third party without confidentiality obligations, or independently developed by Receiving Party without use of Disclosing Party's Confidential Information.

Section 2. Obligations of Receiving Party

Receiving Party agrees to maintain all Confidential Information in strict confidence and to protect such information using the same degree of care it uses to protect its own confidential information, but in no case less than reasonable care. Receiving Party shall limit access to Confidential Information to employees, contractors, and representatives who have a legitimate business need to know and who are bound by written confidentiality obligations no less restrictive than those contained herein. Receiving Party shall not disclose, reproduce, distribute, or use Confidential Information except as expressly authorized in writing by Disclosing Party or as required by law.

Section 3. Permitted Disclosures

Receiving Party may disclose Confidential Information if legally required by court order, subpoena, or governmental demand, provided that Receiving Party gives Disclosing Party prompt written notice of such requirement and cooperates with Disclosing Party in seeking protective orders or other appropriate remedies. Receiving Party shall disclose only the minimum Confidential Information necessary to comply with legal requirements.

Section 4. Return of Information

Upon written request by Disclosing Party or upon termination of this Agreement, Receiving Party shall, at Disclosing Party's election, either return or destroy all Confidential Information in its possession or control, including all copies and derivative works, within thirty days and certify such return or destruction in writing.

Section 5. No License or Obligation to Purchase

Disclosure of Confidential Information does not grant any license, ownership interest, or obligation to purchase any products or services. Neither party is obligated to enter into any business relationship or transaction based on this Agreement.

Section 6. Payment

Receiving Party shall pay Disclosing Party the sum of fifty-two thousand dollars ($52,000) within thirty days of the Effective Date as consideration for this confidentiality arrangement and access to Disclosing Party's Confidential Information.

Section 7. Term and Termination

This Agreement shall remain in effect for a period of two years from the Effective Date, unless earlier terminated by either party. Either party may terminate this Agreement upon forty-five days' written notice to the other party. The obligations of Receiving Party regarding Confidential Information shall survive any termination of this Agreement for a period of two years following the date of termination.

Section 8. Remedies

Receiving Party acknowledges that breach of this Agreement will cause irreparable harm to Disclosing Party for which monetary damages are an inadequate remedy. Disclosing Party shall be entitled to seek injunctive relief, specific performance, and any other remedies available at law or in equity, in addition to all other rights and remedies provided herein.

Section 9. Governing Law

This Agreement shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of the State of New York, without regard to conflicts of law principles.

Section 10. Miscellaneous

This Agreement constitutes the entire agreement between the parties regarding the subject matter hereof. Any modifications must be made in writing and signed by both parties. If any provision is found invalid, the remaining provisions shall continue in full force and effect.
