CONFIDENTIALITY AND NON-DISCLOSURE AGREEMENT

This Confidentiality and Non-Disclosure Agreement (the "Agreement") is entered into as of the date of last signature below (the "Effective Date") between Initech Inc., a corporation organized under the laws of Delaware ("Disclosing Party"), and Hooli Corp., a corporation organized under the laws of California ("Receiving Party").

Section 1. Definitions

For purposes of this Agreement, "Confidential Information" means any and all non-public information disclosed by the Disclosing Party to the Receiving Party, whether orally, in writing, or in any other form, including but not limited to business plans, technical data, source code, product specifications, financial information, customer lists, pricing strategies, and trade secrets. Confidential Information shall not include information that is already in the public domain, independently developed without use of the Confidential Information, rightfully received from a third party without confidentiality obligations, or required to be disclosed by law.

Section 2. Obligations of Receiving Party

The Receiving Party agrees to maintain all Confidential Information in strict confidence using the same degree of care it uses for its own confidential information, but no less than reasonable care. The Receiving Party shall limit access to Confidential Information to its employees, consultants, and contractors who have a legitimate business need to know and who are bound by written confidentiality obligations substantially similar to those contained herein.

Section 3. Permitted Disclosures

The Receiving Party may disclose Confidential Information when required by law, court order, government agency request, or regulatory authority, provided that the Receiving Party promptly notifies the Disclosing Party in writing of such required disclosure to allow the Disclosing Party a reasonable opportunity to seek protective measures.

Section 4. Term and Termination

This Agreement shall commence on the Effective Date and shall continue for a period of one (1) year, unless earlier terminated by either party. Either party may terminate this Agreement upon fifteen (15) days' written notice to the other party. Notwithstanding termination, obligations regarding Confidential Information shall survive for a period of three (3) years from the date of disclosure of such information.

Section 5. Compensation and Fees

As consideration for the Receiving Party's obligations under this Agreement, the Disclosing Party shall pay the Receiving Party the sum of One Hundred Eighty-Four Thousand Dollars ($184,000.00) upon execution of this Agreement. This payment shall be made via wire transfer to an account designated by the Receiving Party within five (5) business days of the Effective Date.

Section 6. Return of Confidential Information

Upon termination of this Agreement or upon request by the Disclosing Party, the Receiving Party shall promptly return or destroy all Confidential Information in tangible form and certify in writing its compliance with this requirement. The Receiving Party may retain one (1) archival copy for legal compliance purposes only.

Section 7. No License or Obligation to Transact

Disclosure of Confidential Information shall not grant the Receiving Party any license rights to such information and does not obligate either party to enter into any further business relationship or transaction.

Section 8. No Warranty

The Disclosing Party makes no representations or warranties regarding the accuracy, completeness, or utility of the Confidential Information disclosed hereunder.

Section 9. Governing Law

This Agreement shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of the State of California, without regard to its conflict of law principles.

Section 10. Remedies

The Receiving Party acknowledges that breach of this Agreement would cause irreparable harm for which monetary damages would be an inadequate remedy. The Disclosing Party shall be entitled to seek equitable relief, including injunctive relief, in addition to any other remedies available at law or in equity.

Section 11. Entire Agreement

This Agreement constitutes the entire agreement between the parties concerning the subject matter hereof and supersedes all prior negotiations, representations, and agreements, whether written or oral.
